

DESIGN & BUILD-OUT

We offer facility design, construction management and operations deployment as part of our cannabis consulting services. Nothing is more critical than ensuring you build functional, sustainable operations sized to address the needs of the cannabis market from where you operate. We help clients ensure that their project timeline is being met and that facilities are being built to the highest standards for cannabis production and/or distribution. We then facilitate a seamless transition from construction to cultivation and sales, ensuring a smooth business opening.

Product quality is the foundation of ACC's Geoponic Methodology for cannabis cultivation. ACC has built out over a million square feet of industry work space. Each component of the workflow has been refined to reduce labor and risk while driving quality. ACC's facilities are designed with optimal process-based workflow, state-of-the-art site security, bio-security and optimal layouts that convert all usable space into revenue generating components of the business. During the design phase, our consultants take into account sustainability, IT operational costs and growth opportunities as key considerations. With a focus on product quality and a drive toward efficiency and sustainability, ACC is building the next generation of cannabis facilities through its Cannabis Consulting Division.
